DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jung et al. US 2004/0109400 A1.

Regarding claim 1, Jung et al. teach a record carrier (1000 of Fig. 4, [0040]) comprising synchronization patterns for identifying blocks of information, said synchronization patterns comprising a part for distinguishing one such synchronization pattern from another such synchronization pattern, characterized in that the part for distinguishing the synchronization patterns consists of the bit sequence 100 101 or of the bit sequence 010 101 ([0030], Table 1 Sync No. 6 and 9).

Regarding claim 2, Jung et al. teach a record carrier according to claim 1, characterized in that the synchronization pattern comprising a part for distinguishing the synchronization patterns consisting of the bit sequence 100 101 or of the bit sequence 010 101, is directly followed by a bit sequence not violating the Repeated Minimum Transition Runlength constraint ([0030] the RLL(1,7) prevents the violation of the Repeated Minimum Transition Runlength constraint).

Regarding claim 3, Jung et al. teach a record carrier according to claim 2, characterized in that the synchronization pattern comprising a part for distinguishing the synchronization patterns consisting of the bit sequence 100 101 or of the bit sequence 010 101, is directly followed by any 8 bit data bit sequence except the sequence 01 11 01 11 ([0030] the RLL(1,7) would not allow the violation of the Repeated Minimum Transition Runlength and not allow the data bit sequence of 01110111 as it would cause a violation of the constraints)

Regarding claim 4, Jung et al. teach a record carrier comprising synchronization patterns for identifying blocks of information, said synchronization patterns comprising a part for distinguishing one such synchronization pattern from another such synchronization pattern, characterized in that the part for distinguishing the synchronization patterns consists of the bit sequence 101 001, or the bit sequence 010 100, or the bit sequence 100 100 ([0030] Table 1 Sync No. 10).

Regarding claim 5, the limitations have been analyzed and rejected with the reasons given as set forth in claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 6, the limitations have been analyzed and rejected with the reasons given as set forth in claim 4 above.

Regarding claim 7, the limitations have been analyzed and rejected with the reasons given as set forth in claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 8, the limitations have been analyzed and rejected with the reasons given as set forth in claim 4 above.
